Increased Safety and Convenience

Safety

Our facilities are equipped with the latest technology. Embryos are stored in state-of-the-art vapor phase liquid nitrogen tanks that are not dependent on electricity to keep embryos frozen. This cutting edge technology provides for the storage of specimens in the vapor phase 100% of the time, thus eliminating the slight risk of infectious disease transfer possible in liquid phase tanks. These storage tanks are monitored 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. The safe keeping of your embryos for many years is completely assured.

Due to our investment in vapor tanks, we are able to accept embryos regardless of the level of infectious disease testing that may have been completed at the time the embryos were frozen, thus saving testing expense and avoiding delays. However, an additional storage fee is applicable for patients who have tested positive for HIV or hepatitis.

Convenience

Fairfax Cryobank offers economical storage fees with monthly and long-term storage options, along with our convenient credit card billing system for payment of storage fees. We will be in direct contact regarding transfer and disposition of your patient's embryos. Our facilities have expandable storage systems to handle frozen samples in all types of packaging (vials, straws, ampules).
